

Dalva's Adventures

October 2019

Darryl Lipscomb was the caller for the Trailblazers' Saturday and Sunday dances on the first weekend in October, and as expected, they were suitably challenging, but still fun. It is always good to get calls from some formations from which you haven't seen them done before, and Darryl gave us plenty of that. We had a nice turnout of dancers, mostly the usual reliable suspects, and we're grateful for that; we couldn't do it without them.

Edition 14

Michael

Kellogg was the caller, and Jim Elder the cuer, for the Phantom Squares' October A2 dance, and Michael also called for the Sunday C1 dance. As we fully expected, Michael gave us some interesting material at both dances, further evidence for why one really needs to know the definitions. Attendance was off from usual for both dances, but we were up against freeway closures due to the fires on Friday night, and were competing with a dance at the Wilkinson Center on Sunday that drew 30 squares, so we will accept that as good news for the future of square dancing in this area.

TEXPACC was again an event not to be missed with its lineup of five stellar callers, a nice facility for dancing, and a very effective and efficient implementation of the computer squares. Where else can you get five of the best callers in the country sharing two and a half hour dance sessions? It's a long trip for those of us from California, but it's worth it and we hope to see many of you there next year.
